A selection of wine and Italian small plates at this new trattoria, just steps away from the Pearl district.

The Scene

Set in a subterranean corner spot with lots of light, diners are greeted by a spare, modern space highlighted by a gleaming open kitchen. Dark walls and a granite bar are set off by crisp white tablecloths. The staff is efficient but seems unacquainted with the large, by-the-glass wine selection.

The Food

The Italian-inspired menu consists of 30 or so smallish plates at reasonable prices for the sip-and-nibble crowd. For a great light meal, order several starters--like the crisp cauliflower or baccala (dried salt cod) fritters, thick grilled bruschetta with a long list of toppings, or the excellent grilled pizza topped with prosciutto and pesto. The more substantial plates tend to be less charming, particularly the bland clams in a white wine saffron broth and the overcooked, tough pork chops. Concentrate on small plates and the fun, fascinating wine list for a good nosh.

Insider Tips

Know Before You Go

Interested in trying a big-ticket wine, but don't want to commit to a bottle? Try one of the pricier wines that are available when you purchase two glasses.

I am so impressed with the food, the presentation, the atmosphere, and especially the service! The wine selection is fabulous also.

My favorite for lunch was the Mozzarella sandwich with poached egg...yum! On another occasion for dinner I started with the Ensalata Mista and then had the scrumptious and perfectly done lamb chops rubbed with mint and rosemary. I have now tried two of their desserts and am now addicted to their bittersweet chocolate tart, but also have a hard time choosing between the tart and the walnut popovers....

I will definitely go back again and again, and refer friends and associates there. The atmosphere is clean, calm, and perfect for dining with friends, co-workers, on a date, with your family, or even by yourself!

Pros: Excellent Service, Excellent Food, Inexpensive
